

Free one-day SEND education technology training event for school leaders

Why attend?

- Hear case studies and real-life examples from fellow teachers
- Debate the issues affecting your school and help identify solutions
- Discover new ways of working that will save time and make a positive impact
- See best practice in action in our demonstrator classroom
- Receive guidance on sourcing and using education technology
- Come away with ideas and tips you can put into practice the very next day
- Earn CPD points for attending – you will receive a certificate at the end of the day

“The show helped to reignite my passion for using technology to support teaching and learning and left me with practical advice to support my work back at school.”

C. Crowther, Digital Lead

Supported by:

Department
for Education

LearnED SEND is organised by the British Educational Suppliers Association (BESA) and supported by the Department for Education (DfE). The day comprises:

Practitioner-led conference

A full day of panel debates, interactive discussions and detailed case studies, giving you the change giving you the chance to learn from your peers.

Supplier exhibition

Browse the suppliers' exhibition, featuring 30+ companies, during your coffee and lunch breaks.

Demonstrator classroom

See education technology in action with local school children in our demonstrator classroom.

Who should attend:

This event is designed for special educational needs coordinators, headteachers, deputy headteachers, and senior leaders in both primary and secondary schools.

"The event really helped us to identify our ICT needs in relation to our priorities in shaping teaching and learning for current students and for the future."

Sean Murphy, AHT
